Was Needed Yesterday to Inflame the Rioters to Murder.

FOREIGNERS COWED BY OFFICERS

And no Depredations Were Committed Throughout the Day.—The Slavs and Belgians in an Ugly Mood and Making Many Threats.—A Number of Mines Resume—Strangers Flock to the Mansfield Region and Join the Strikers.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 29.—The striking miners in the Mansfield coal district seem to be fully cowed by the disastrous attack upon the Reading mines and the presence of a couple of deputy sheriffs in this district, for peace prevailed in the district all Sunday and last night. At Bridgeville still prevailed last night and a vigilance committee of citizens assisted the deputy sheriffs in patrolling the streets. They had several alarms but they proved groundless. Rumors of all kinds are still flying. The woods, according to the reports of scared farmers, are supposed to be full of bands of Slavonic and Belgian miners awaiting opportunity to rush from their hiding retreats upon unwary deputy sheriffs, but the latter to rout and then continue their destruction of coal tips. Sheriff Richards, who has been at Mansfield receiving reports returned to Pittsburgh for a brief time this morning. He says he does not believe any further attempts at property destruction will be made by the strikers.

AT MANSFIELD.

A Mansfield dispatch says Sheriff Richards went to Bridgeville at 10 a. m. and returned to the starting of the mines there. Most of the old men who were driven out by the mob on Saturday have returned to work and about fifty foreigners are watching them. Deputy sheriffs Foster and Slatery went out to the Tom's Run branch with forty assistants to make arrests. They have nineteen informations sworn out before Judge Means, of Mansfield. Deputy Sheriff Breslin will take charge of the Mansfield deputies. Reports from W. J. Steen's mines are to the effect that the men have returned to work in a body. So far all the mines on the Tom's Run branch are idle with no indications that the men will return to work soon. A meeting of miners will be held at Junction 2 this morning.

There has been no disorder of any kind in the valley, and the chief deputies believe the trouble is over.

AT WOODVILLE.

A Woodville dispatch says: The Armstrong Coal Company's works are an object for attack by the miners. At an early hour a notice was posted by some unknown person that if the men now working in the mines did not cease at once they would be driven off, the tips burned and the mines killed. The Armstrongs, upon receipt of this, at once took away all the mules not necessary for the absolute working of the men in the mine, and then notified Sheriff Richards, who was at Mansfield. With a force of deputies he at once went to the mines. Arriving at the station, he found a large crowd of men congregated. He ordered the deputies to patrol in front of the works. They did so by exhibiting white badges. This show of force alarmed the men, and they got on trains or marched over the hills towards Mansfield. The men in the mine have been armed, and swear they will defend the tipple to the last.

Deputy Taylor has just returned from Foster's mine. He reports that this morning a number of strikers gathered around the works and made the darkest threats. One man who spoke English quite well said: "So long as there is any one working so long will this place be in danger. You fellows had better leave here soon." Thirty deputies went over to Tom's Run this morning and arrested 15 Slavs. They were taken to Mansfield. The men had congregated around the upper mines for two days and last night built bon fires. They were drinking and made many threats. The deputy sheriffs tried to quell them by their presence but the miners were defiant. This morning Sheriff Richards sent an additional force with handcuffs. They succeeded in arresting 15 of the strikers who offered resistance. Some sympathizers on the hillside hooted and hurled stones but they were not otherwise riotous nor reply was made to them. A large crowd of strikers are on the streets of Mansfield. They seem to be without leaders and walk about in an uncertain manner. The sight of the deputy sheriffs caused the most intense hatred and were it not for the fact that the latter are armed they would stand but little show.

MAKING THREATS.

Quite a large number of miners from the Monongahela region are flocking here. They are mingling with the strikers, marching from pit to pit trying to induce the men to commit acts of violence. The leaders in the attack at Shute's tipple were all strangers.

Deputy Sheriff A. L. Green returning from Bower Hill reports that an English speaking miner, who understands the Slavonic language, overheard a number of the latter in close consultation. He drew nearer and learned that there was a plot to hoist a red flag this afternoon and declare for blood. There were about fifteen Slavs in the group and they seemed terribly wrought up, denouncing the coal operators in the most unmeasured terms. "I instructed the man," continued the deputy sheriff, "to return to the men and warn them that if they searched for blood they would find it." Additional deputies will be sent to Bower Hill to disperse any meeting. Thirty-two rioters have been captured and are now in Mansfield jail.

The Car Has the Grip.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 29.—The czar is suffering from a severe attack of influenza, bronchitis and inflammation of the lungs. The lower part of the czar's right lung is inflamed and his temperature on Saturday night was 103. It is announced to-day that the czar has passed a quieter night.

The best medical authorities say the proper way to treat catarrh is to take a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

THE BOND INJUNCTION.

The Application Made Before Judge Cox by the Attorneys for the Knights of Labor.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 29.—Arguments were to-day heard before Judge Cox, of the district supreme court, on the application of Grand Master Workman Severolgen and T. B. McGuire, of the Knights of Labor, for an injunction to restrain Secretary Carlisle from issuing $50,000,000 bonds, as proposed in his recent circular. Judge Cox reserved his decision, and announced that tomorrow or Wednesday he would state his conclusion in the case.

Only a score of persons heard the arguments. The applicants for the injunction were represented by Senator Allen, of Nebraska, Judge Jera Wilson, C. C. Cole, of Des Moines, Iowa, and J. W. Miller, of Denver, Colorado, all of whom took part in the argument. The court was asked to compel Secretary Carlisle to show cause why the writ asked for should not be granted.

Judge Wilson, in opening the case, referred to the fact that there was no other judicial tribunal to which the applicants had resort under the circumstances. He declared that no other business would sustain as much injury or damage by the bond issue as that of the miners, who form a large percentage of the 300,000 or more members of the Knights of Labor. Though the secretary, in announcing that bonds would be issued, cited the act of January 14, 1875, providing for specie payment resumption as authority for his action, neither this act nor that of July 14, 1870, authorizing the refunding of the national debt conferred the authority.

Counsel Mills then read the application. "The issue of the bonds as proposed," cited the application, "involves an indebtedness approximately of $75,000,000 including principal and interest. Your orators complain that on January 17, 1894, the defendant, John Griffin Carlisle, secretary of the treasury, caused to be issued, published and offered for public subscription an issue of United States bonds to the amount of $50,000,000 redeemable in coin at the pleasure of the government after ten years of date of issue, but bearing interest at 5 per cent per annum and dated February 1, 1894.

"Orators further show that the proposed action for the issuance and sale of bonds offered by the defendant is illegal, without any authority and contrary to the statute of the United States in that the bonds are not proposed to be issued or sold to redeem the legal tender U. S. notes. Further, that by the act of July 14, 1870, there was an express prohibition upon the issue of any bonds so as to increase in any way whatever the bonded debt of the United States. It is also averred that the act of January 14, 1874, was amended by that of May 31, 1878, so as to withdraw from the secretary of the treasury the power to redeem any more of said legal tender United States notes, and that there were outstanding when that act took effect $340,000,000 of legal tender United States notes. It is further shown that there is no demand now nor has been any practical possibility that a demand will or can be made for any further redemption of the legal tender notes. The proposed action under the published offer for subscription is not only without authority of law and contrary thereto, but without necessity or sanction in the condition of the United States treasury, for there is in the treasury $75,000,000 of United States gold coin which may rightfully and properly be applied and used for the purposes for which the bonds are offered for subscription are proposed to be sold. Neither the necessities nor conveniences of the government require issuance of the bonds, while such issue and sale are prohibited by the laws. But now the defendant, combining and confederating with divers persons at present unknown, at times, pretends that the issue and sale is necessary to maintain a $100,000,000 gold coin reserve for resumption and other purposes; whereas, there is no law or authority requiring such reserve. Nor is such reserve desirable or practicable. All of these actions and pretences are contrary to equity and good conscience. And that an injunction may issue against the defendant, his confederates or employees, against the issue and sale of the bonds and from expending public moneys in preparing and placing on the market for sale the issue of bonds, and in paying any installment of interest on the principal, and it may please the court to grant unto your orators the writ to subpoena to John Griffin Carlisle and confederates and agents to appear before this honorable court in chancery sitting then and there to answer the premises and further to stand to and abide by such orders as shall be agreeable to equity and good conscience."

GAGGING PETITIONERS.

Democrats of the Senate Object to the Reading of Protests Against the Wilson Bill.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—In the senate this morning Senator Vest (Dem., Mo.) offered a protest against the habit of Republican members of reading petitions against the passage of the Wilson bill. The rules provide that all petitions shall be mentioned by title, and when Senator Dolph (Rep., Ore.) proceeded to read a petition of binding twine employees, of Oregon, Senator Vest promptly objected, and despite the remonstrances of Senator Dolph secured a ruling from the Vice President that such petitions can be read only by unanimous consent.

Senator Wolcott (Rep., Colo.) presented the memorial of the Colorado legislature, heretofore published, repudiating the propositions of Governor Waite that the Colorado legislature has any power to legislate on the monetary question.

The resolutions were read and referred.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Jan. 29.—The Ohio Valley Building and Loan Association of this city is the oldest and best concern of the kind in this section of the state.

To-morrow night a proposition will be voted on by the stockholders to release borrowers from paying dues, fines and premiums from January 1, 1894, to June, 1894. The directors say this move is necessary and in the event of a defeat of the proposition many houses now mortgaged will have to be sold and not bring scarcely anything.

ROSINA VOKES DEAD.

The Talented Little Actress Succumbs to Overwork—Her Death in England.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Miss Rosina Vokes, of the famous Vokes family, is dead. Miss Rosina, who was the most talented of the famous Vokes family, which has been prominent before the public for many years, was born in London in 1854. She made her debut at the age of six months as the baby in "Mr. and Mrs. Peter White." She retired from the stage when she married Mr. Cecil Clay in 1877, but returned to it some years later. One of Miss Rosina's brothers, Fred Vokes, married Bella Moore, daughter of Pony Moore, the minstrel manager and father-in-law of Charles Mitchell, the defeated pugilist. Miss Vokes, who had been suffering from overwork in the United States, closed her tour and sailed for England December 13 last. She died at Babcombe, Torquay, on Saturday.

WORK OF BURGLARS.

The American Legation at Rome Entered. Many Valuables Destroyed.

ROME, Jan. 29.—It was discovered this morning that burglars broke open the safe of the American legation last night and not any valuables inside it they wrecked the room in which the safe was kept, broke a bust of Washington which stood in a corner of the room, burned all the papers they could lay hands on and destroyed the valuable library of the legation. There is no trace of the burglars.

Itotous Anarchists.

ZURICH, Jan. 29.—This city has been the scene of a riotous demonstration. A band of anarchists carrying red and black flags marched to the Italian consulate and affixed the flags to the entrance on over the door of the consulate. The police interferred and a riotous scene followed, during which a severe struggle between the representatives of the authorities and the rioters took place. During the riot many people were wounded on both sides and sixteen of the prominent rioters were arrested.

Wreck of a British Bark.

DUBLIN, Jan. 29.—A dispatch from Tralee announces the wreck of the British bark Port Yarrow, Captain Forbes, and the drowning of all her crew, consisting of twenty-five men. The Port Yarrow sailed from Santa Rosalia on July 4, for Queenstown and Antwerp, and anchored in Brandon Bay on January 21, the last heard of her, in a distressed condition when she reported that provisions had run short on the passage and that some of the crew were sick from exposure and lack of sufficient nourishment.
